

My Eulogy

Imagine you died today. Tomorrow is the day of your funeral. Who will come to mourn your death?

What are the mourners saying about you?

Who is giving a eulogy? What are they saying about the kind of person you were?

How does this vision match up with what you WANT?

Consider the "gap" between what you want them to say and what they are saying. What will be different for you now? Why ("why" is the most important question of all!)?
